Two weeks ago the selectmen heard Alex Ritchie, father of the girl who was driving the private vehicle involved in the accident, charge that Cole had "used bad judgement", "driven to endanger" and that Fire and Police

The whole idea started with Frank DiClemente and Ted Harrison at Phillips — who originally suggested a professional basketball game as a fund raising pro-

Morton House.

The first Chapel service was held Sept. 21 at which time Mrs.

comed old and new students to Abbot. Mrs. Crane spoke of faculty changes and introduced new faculty members.

Miss Alice Sweeney is retiring this year from the position she has long held as director of studies. Miss Eleanor Tucker, who has taught science and mathematics at Abbot for a number of years, succeeds Miss Sweeney in the administrative position. Because of the increasing total of applications, Miss Isabel Hancock has been appointed director of admissions. She will continue to teach in the mathematics department. Miss Mildred Hatch is again director of residence.

Mathematics will also be taught by Miss Joan Adaskin of Fall

her B.A. from Wellesley and her M.A. from Boston university. She has been teaching at the Grosse Pointe University school in

COLE REPORTS ON ACCIDENT

department vehicles generally go too fast.

The accident happened on Shawsheen rd. as the jeep passed a car which had for some distance refused to pull over when Cole sounded the siren. Ritchie said Cole passed the car on the crest of a hill, pulling out into the left hand lane and thus into the path of his daughter's car coming in the opposite direction.

Cole's Report

Cole's statement read from the accident report he said was made out the day after the accident, and before Ritchie's charges were aired, differed sharply from the original complaint.

Cole's report went this way: The jeep, with a fire truck behind it, was going to a fire and had to follow an auto that refused to pull over and stop on Shawsheen rd., but which slowed down in front of the fire apparatus. Cole said he could not pass the car because of the risk, but was forced to swerve around it when the car suddenly pulled over slightly and stopped right at the top of the hill. Estimated speed then was 10 to 15 m.p.h., Cole stated.

At that point, Cole related, he saw the Ritchie car coming and stopped the jeep. It was then hit by the Ritchie car, going at a speed he estimated at 30 m.p.h. Cole said tire marks showed the distance in which the jeep was stopped but he could find no tire marks indicating that brakes had been applied in the Ritchie car with any great force.

Selectman Stafford Lindsay said Cole had called him and told him the same set of facts very shortly after the accident. Chairman Sidney P. White emphasized that Cole was not answering to any charges but was merely being given the opportunity to tell his story to the board.

Hilton's Report

Meanwhile, a report from Chief Henry Hilton told selectmen that two occupants of the Ritchie car told him they were blinded by lights from the car that stopped at the crest of the hill. Hilton's report emphasized that the red light on top of the jeep should be seen at night, at quite a distance from the point of collision, but perhaps could not be seen if the girls were blinded by headlights. Mention was also made of the continually wailing siren, which perhaps could have been heard by the girls because they were riding in an open-top car.

At the meeting Monday night, Hilton read a portion of state law that says all vehicles must pull over and stop when they hear or see a police or fire vehicle, ambulance and the like. He stressed the word stop - rather than slow down or pulling over and slowing. He said it also referred to cars coming in the opposite direction from an emergency vehicle unless operating on a divided highway.

CONTINUE TO DEBATE MILK BID PROBLEM

peared before the board to find out what the specifications would be and why the previous plan for supplying milk is to be abandoned.

Mr. White stressed the necessity of providing good milk for the children and asked many questions about the specifications regarding Grade A herds, location of the dairy from which the milk would come and whether it must be disease free. He also asked the committee whether it would consider skimmed milk from the north mixed with Ohio cream or whether the milk must be pure.

He pointed out that the Walnuthurst dairy and his Wild Rose farm have shared the milk business for many years, with Wild Rose supplying the elementary schools and Walnuthurst the high and junior high schools. They charged 5 1/4 cents a half-pint last year.

Expressing confusion over what brought the matter up, Mr. White then charged that someone asked the Glennie milk company to ask for some of the business. In response to a question from Frederick Allis Jr., White said he had proof. He pointed out that the local dealers have given great service over the years, picking up extra milk and giving full credit to the schools, absorbing the loss when school is suddenly called off for a day and making deliveries two or three times a day when needed. He also said bottles are purchased in the spring but are in demand only for this type of business — thus the dairies would have quite a loss through having the bottles already on hand for the school year.

No Cross Exam

At one point, as Mr. White asked several questions of the board, Chairman Roy Russell said it was his understanding Mr. White wanted to suggest proper items to be included in the specifications — and that the board wasn't to be "cross-examined".

The board did decide that the matter should be discussed again next week, with the possibility that a change in procedure might be delayed for some time based on the loss each dairy might suffer through any sudden cancellation.

It was during the discussion with Mr. White that member Allis pointed out that old, informal ways of doing things have to change as the school system grows larger. He was answering White's question as to why bids should be called for now after so many years of operation the other way.

Another School Problem

Just when everyone thought the South school issues were nearly solved—with all parties in substantial agreement on price and design—there comes a possible road block.

It appeared last week in the form of a debate over the makeup of the building committee and what part the school committee should play in construction supervision.

The Taxpayers association suggested a building committee of nine, to be reduced to five after the contract is let for the school. Four of the eventual five would be the present consultants—John Erwin, John Sullivan, Edward P. Hall and Charles Hatch. The fifth would be a member of the school committee, designated by that committee to serve as its representative. Up to construction time, the committee would include all school board members and the four consultants.

Earlier, the school committee had asked for a building committee composed of all its members, plus the consultants which would follow through with all details until the building is completed.

While this may seem a small problem—it is not. For members of the school committee seemed adamant in their position while the Taxpayers association said its proposal will be offered on the floor of town meeting if the school board doesn't agree ahead of time.

We don't like the prospects of a floor fight over the building committee. It could easily become such a heated debate that the actual school article might be endangered for it is, we believe, the taxpayers' plan to amend the school article itself. It is difficult enough to get a two-thirds vote on a substantial project such as this without a vigorous fight that might create animosities which would carry over into the vote on the school.

Wouldn't it be far easier to reach a compromise solution?

Perhaps there is a middle ground on which the school committee and Taxpayers association could agree. If there is, we can only hope that thinking men on either side of the question will not hesitate to reach that agreement rather than insist, perhaps to the detriment of the South school, that they are entirely right.

Both groups should seriously consider a compromise that would avoid a serious, all-out floor fight. And sober-thinking individuals in town who are in favor of a new school in the Vale should lend whatever weight they have with either group towards a solution that will save the school.

Bill Fisher Signs Braves Contract

BILL FISHER

Bill Fisher, triple sports star at Punchard, has signed a Milwaukee Braves farm contract.

He will report to the Braves' Class C club in Eau Claire, Wisconsin, next spring, it is reported. Jeff Jones signed the young star for the Braves and it was indicated that both the Red Sox and the Kansas City Athletics were interested. Fisher played with the Fredericton club in the New Brunswick league this year.

Although he was a stand-out third baseman here last year, Fisher pitched at Fredericton, winding up the season with an 8-4 record and a strikeout record of 85—third in the league. He hit at the .300 mark for the season. His strikeout record, while third in the league, was eight less than the leader and only four less than the second man. Fisher reported a month later than the others.

Fisher played basketball, baseball and football here and won letters in all three.

Local Girls Enter Simmons College

Some 1600 students including 315 freshmen have started classes at Simmons college. Among the freshmen entering are two local students.

Marie Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Burton, 90 Lowell st., graduated from Punchard High school where she was a member of the National Honor Society, Dramatic club, Student Council News, yearbook and newspaper staff and librarian for the high school band.

Mary-Anne Faggiano, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Faggiano, 83 Elm st., was graduated from Abbot academy where she was active in the Glee club, Athletic Association, member of the yearbook staff, served as accompanist for the Glee club. She is the recipient of an Abbot academy scholarship.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — September, 1906

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Shearer sail tomorrow for Italy where they will spend the winter. They are making the trip on the Canopic.

The fire department is making plans for its annual ball to be held in the town hall Thanksgiving Eve. At a recent meeting the following were appointed to the committee: Frank M. Smith, George C. Dunnells, Arthur T. Morse, Chester H. Harnden, Walter I. Morse, George E. Morse and Everett H. Prescott.

A "freak" in nature was brought to the TOWNSMAN office recently. It was a marigold which had gone to seed and sprouted again. The curiosity has five blossoms and six buds and was picked from a garden on Washington ave.

Last Wednesday evening an automobile owned and driven by Herbert Morrison crashed into the stone wall at the home of W. N. Pike. It came from Lowell and contained two gentlemen besides the driver. He said they had hired him to make the trip to Lawrence. The heavy fog made it impossible to see the road and the car hit the wall as it was turning by the drinking fountain. None were injured and Gayton Abbott drove them back to Lowell in his team.

The annual meeting of the Andover club was held in the club rooms in the Musgrove block Wednesday evening. Harry M. Eames was elected president and Corwin F. Palmer was elected vice president. Other officers named were Barnett Rogers, treasurer and Charles L. White, clerk. Directors will be Lewis T. Hardy, George A. Brown, J. E. Whiting, and Frank H. Hardy.

F. S. Boutwell was elected president of the Home for Aged People at the annual meeting.

The first supper of the season of the Ballardvale Congregational Ladies' Aid society was held in the vestry last Friday. About 70 sat down to supper. After the bounteous collation, Mrs. J. H. Smith, president, announced an entertaining program for the evening.

Selectmen are preparing to send ballots throughout the town during the next week to find out whether telephone subscribers wish to become part of the Lawrence exchange. While it is reported that the Telephone company is taking a neutral attitude, there is a steering committee at work trying to influence voters to join the Lawrence exchange. The referendum tells the rates, present and what will be charged if Andover joins the Lawrence system.

Ray Shepard starts his seventh grid season Saturday as coach of the Phillips academy eleven. The game will start at 2, with the team from New Hampton, N.H. Tickets are now on sale for the play "Climbing Roses" to be given by members of the Girls' Friendly society of Christ church Oct. 16.

Mutilated mail delivered Tuesday afternoon was the result of a freak accident. Postoffice officials explained that a mail pouch was tossed off the train about 100 yards from the station but was dragged under the wheels of the speeding train. The pouch and much mail was badly ripped and tossed out along the tracks. But some of the mail was held by suction under the car until it reached Lawrence. Mail men walked the four miles along the track and recovered many letters. The officials claim all mail in the pouch was finally recovered and delivered.

The Morgan sisters, perhaps better known nationally as "Le Trio Morgan", came home last week to visit old friends. They left Tuesday for New York where they will begin a heavy schedule of concert appearances. The sisters, Frances, Virginia and Marguerite, have played before royalty during several European tours. Frances plays the violin, Virginia the harp and Marguerite plays the piano.

The October meeting of the garden club will be held on the sixth at Phillips Inn, from which members will drive to the Log Cabin for a lecture and picnic lunch.

10 Years Ago — September, 1946

The American Legion Auxiliary installed its officers last Friday night in the Legion hall. Mrs. William A. Buchan is the new president.

A meeting of Andover Grange was held. Worthy State Master Roy D. Hawes attended the session, at which a report on the recent fair was presented showing it to have been very successful.

The 25th anniversary program of the Shawsheen Woman's club will be held in the form of a desert meeting Oct. 7 in Shawsheen school auditorium. During the meeting a history of the club "Twenty Five Years of Service and Progress" will be presented.

A motorcycle collided, head-on, with a car on School st. Tuesday. The motorcycle was going down School st. and the car coming up when the crash occurred. The auto driver had a badly cut left hand and was taken to the Lawrence General hospital.

A woman from Prince Edward Island was badly cut and shaken last Friday afternoon in a strange accident. She was reported missing from a train somewhere between Andover and Lawrence. Sgt. Hickey found her lying along side the tracks. Other passengers said the woman had inquired if she should get off the train at Andover or Lawrence and had been told to disembark at Lawrence. When the conductor yelled "Lawrence", just after leaving the Andover station, she got up and walked out of the car, thinking she was in Lawrence.

OLYMPIC WEEK ACTIVITIES PLANNED

ject for the New England Olympic committee. The more they thought about it, though, the more it seemed that everyone should have a chance to get into the act, to take part in the activities.

So the two men called a meeting of many Andover citizens and put the idea up for discussion.
Week-Long Event

And what resulted will make headlines across the country. For the men decided to stage a whole week of events, including every possible organization in the town,
the churches and the townspeople.

"We're trying to give the Olympics back to the people. It's their game", DiClemente explained.

"How many people know or care about the Olympics?", he asked, while pointing out that the Andover Olympic week, if copied across the country, would give everyone a chance to learn about the Olympics and take part in supporting them.

After that first organizational meeting, committees were set up to plan events for every day in the week. Nationally-known athletes were asked to take part and responded willingly. Even the internationally-famous Helsinki Girls gym team promised to come.

And so the plans snowballed
into a week-long extravaganza that will give every resident a chance to support the games and to become more concerned with the Olympics themselves.

This week DiClemente said surrounding towns were asked to help out by, perhaps, donating 10 cents from each paid admission
at their football games that week.
Schedule

Right now, the schedule of events shapes up this way:

Saturday, Oct. 13 - Parade
featuring bands, top athletes, civic organizations; miniature Olympic meet at the Playstead for Andover boys and girls with track events for boys in the morning and for girls in the afternoon;
also in the afternoon, a 15-kilometer road race, expected to draw the best in long-distance runners;
in the evening, Boston Celtics vs Rochester Royals at Phillips academy;

Sunday - Clergy will weave the Olympic Code into their sermons in all churches; paper drive by the Boy Scouts to aid the fund;

tennis match between Don Budge
and former New England star Jack Lynch or Ed Moylan; net clinic
at the academy;

Monday - Bike races for town's youth and other activities;

Tuesday - Olympic dinner,
sponsored by the Andover Service club featuring star athletes and Swede Nelson as M.C.;

Wednesday - Swimming and water ballet under direction of Gertrude Goss, at Phillips pool; outstanding swimmers and divers
from Harvard and Yale and an exhibition by the Red Cross;

Thursday - program to be announced;

Friday - Gymnastics exhibition
by the University of Helsinki Girls Gym team and college gym teams of Springfield college, University of Massachusetts and the Turn Verein, all at the high school;

Saturday - Conclusion of a hol-in-one tournament which will be conducted all week at the Country club, with awards being presented for this event.

many events include Frank Di-

GANG WAR AVERTED TUESDAY NIGHT

bers of the group admitted that a fight was planned during the day Tuesday for Tuesday night in a sand pit off Greenwood rd.

He said the planned war was over two girls, one a resident of Andover and the other from No. Reading. Neither was present as far as police could determine.

Of the 53 boys, Hickey said about a dozen live here with young men from Methuen, Lawrence, No. Andover and Boxford also involved. He identified one group as being the Lawrence 49ers — a group he said named for the 1949 cars they drive. But Hickey said no amount of questioning could determine if the other boys were an organized gang with a name. As the sergeant described it, lads were recruited from a No. Andover dance Tuesday night, after the word had spread during the day that a fight was coming up. Others had received word too and congregated for the melee.

One telephone tip from a woman was received at the police station and was followed shortly by another tip from a man who said he overheard two boys talking about the fight.

The auxiliary police were holding a regular meeting at the time, so were pressed into service. There was no fight between police and the gang of boys, Hickey said, and only one potential weapon, a knife, was found. Hickey, however, said he didn't think it was being carried as a weapon for the fight.

United Fund Will Record Progress
On Billboard

Andover's United Fund chairman, Stafford A. Lindsay, has announced that there will be a billboard erected in front of the Memorial Hall library on Oct. 1st. The purpose of the billboard will be to list the firms who contributed the fair share level of giving to the United Fund. Also on the billboard will be listed the employee groups who qualify for the Good Citizenship Plaque Award. The latter is obtained when 60 percent of the total number of persons employed contribute a minute a day or better.

Chairman Lindsay further stated that the fair share formula was arrived at by a representative group of Greater Lawrence citizens after studying the experiences of other United Fund cities in the country. It also answers the perennial question confronting solicitors in the past two years, "How much should I give?"

The fair-share formula is as follows:

Industrial Firm Gifts — $10 times the number of persons employed; Mercantile establishments — $20 times the number of persons employed; Real estate and insurance firms — $30 times the number of persons employed; Banks — $40 times the number of persons employed.

Many a man is saved by the hard work that he firmly believes is killing him.

WEST ANDOVERITES ASK REZONING

zoning at the annual town meeting but the planning board-sponsored article was defeated then. It would create acre lots with 200-foot frontage instead of the present 30,000 square foot lots with 150-foot frontage.

Dr. Ray Youmans told the board "I'm against it very definitely. I think the zoning is changing so fast no one can keep up with it. It was defeated on a fair vote at town meeting".

Many Favor Change

Many of those attending the hearing called for the change because of drainage, sewage, water and school problems that might arise through general development in the area.

George Laaff told the board the proposal "was defeated because people were not aware of its vital importance to the town". The months have proven its value, he stressed, because of examples of the striking acceleration of building here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Forbes called for larger lots, based on immediate problems of water supply, drainage and sewage plus the school situation if 500 new homes should be built in a short period in that section.

Engineer Ralph Preble, responding to a question, said the difference in lot sizes from Zone B to C would have very little effect on the water distribution system but the problem of supply would be more serious. However, he added that the BPW is now studying water supply sources, with the hope that another year should find the town in a position where it could get more water from some other sources if it is needed.

Added Expense

Alex Henderson, a BPW member, told the planning board added street frontages - from 150 to 200 - would be added expense to the town in maintenance, added expense per lot in water extensions and that homeowners would find themselves paying more on betterment assessments because of added frontage requirements.

Others at the session insisted that acute problems facing the town already would be magnified greatly if the West Andover section should be developed rapidly.

Planning Board Member Fredric O'Brien pointed out that he can think of no development in the town on acre lots, except occasional building along accepted ways, but developers do create sub-divisions where Zone B requirements prevail.

Doyle Plan

Shortly after the hearing ended, the planning board was confronted with a plan for some 44 house lots off Argilla rd. and the almost-non-existent Old County rd. Fred Doyle presented the preliminary drawing, prepared by the Andover Engineers Inc. The firm is a new one composed of BPW Chairman Allan Flye, Town Engineer Ralph Preble and assistant Town Engineer Donald Bassett. The plan is adjacent to another which also included some 44 house lots and planning board members pointed out that the two plans indicated the beginning of development in the area up for rezoning.

TAXPAYERS, SCHOOL BOARD IN DEBATE

the school committee.

Wolfson said the committee makeup would allow the school committee to have ample opportunity to make decisions on the school but would then turn over supervision to persons with experience in that field.

The school committee's article on the South school lists a building committee including all members of that board plus John Erwin, supervisor of new construction for Western Electric; John Sullivan, a banking official; Charles Hatch, attorney and member of the Finance committee and Edward P. Hall, town official and builder with some 40 years' experience in the field. The four consultants would remain under the taxpayers version, but only a single school committee member would serve as sort of a liaison man during the construction period.

Against Plan

Members of the school committee presented arguments against the plan - pointing out that their interest is high and they wish to finish the job they started. The board was authorized by town meeting to investigate the needs and draw preliminary plans for the school. At various times there have been efforts, including one special article by the Taxpayers association, to have a special committee appointed.

Members of the board of consultants declined to express opinions on serving nearly alone on the building committee but several times mentioned the necessity, under any conditions, of maintaining close contact with the school board.

Legion Elects Officers

IRVING J. WHITCOMB

Irving J. Whitcomb has been elected commander of Legion post 8.

He will be installed with other recently-elected officers, Oct. 24 at the Legion headquarters.

Other officers elected include Bror J. Blomquist, vice commander; Wallace F. Bell, vice commander; George F. Bushway, adjutant; Albert Cole Jr., finance officer; Laurence K. Dole, chaplain; Albert Johnson, historian; Frank P. Markey, service officer and Joseph Medolo, sergeant at arms.

The Executive committee will include Retiring Commander Douglas W. Hutcheson, Past Commanders Arthur L. Coleman and Laurence Dole and John H. Grecoe plus Whitcomb, Blomquist, Bell, Bushway and Cole.

Women Voters Plan Fall Program

The fall program of the Andover League of Woman Voters starts this week with a buffet luncheon today. A finance drive begins on Oct. 1. Mrs. John Pickering and Mrs. Gerard Bradford have arranged for the luncheon meeting at the Boston University Conference center and Mrs. Sherman Drake has obtained as a speaker, William F. Clark, who is director of Business Services and Secretary of the School Committee in Newton. His subject will be school construction.

The finance drive is headed by Mrs. Adair Miller, assisted by Mrs. Richard Peters and their committees. The League is financed about 33 percent by members' dues and the remainder of funds comes chiefly from contributions by members and public-spirited citizens outside the League. No salaries are paid to any workers, directors, or officers at any level in the League and all funds go for League works. The total planned budget this year for the Andover League is $1730, with $650 of that sum to be raised from outside contributions.

Call For Bids On Route 28 Bridge

A giant step forward in the construction of Route 28 has been taken by the state department of public works.

The department called for bids, returnable Oct. 16, on the bridge superstructure. That project is estimated at $1,260,000 and will not begin until the legislature takes final action on the highway bond issue now before it.

Commissioner John A. Volpe said work will be completed within 600 calendar days of the time work starts — but warned that steel deliveries are about 15 months from the date of order. It is expected that the bridge itself will be finished late in 1958. Work has progressed all summer on the sub-structure.

The first step in building the road itself will be a section from the bridge to River rd., Volpe has announced. He said plans are being drawn in the hope that a call for bids may go out before the end of this year.

The bridge will be a four-lane divided road, with a four-foot center strip. It will include a 13-foot passing strip and a 12-foot travel lane on each side plus a two-and-a-half foot catwalk for workmen. There will be no pedestrian traffic allowed. The bridge will measure 1164 feet, supported by 10 spans. The largest will be 175 feet long over the river channel. The shore-to-shore distance is 750 feet and there will be 30 feet clearance at the channel at high water. The department estimates a total of $2,500,000 for the bridge when landtaking is included.

Stephen R. Byrne, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry V. Byrne, 51 School st., has enrolled again as a student at Vermont academy Saxtons River, Vt., for the coming academic year.
